CAVAN TO CONDUCT DIAMOND EXPLORATION IN SASKATCHEWAN

November 27th, 2013, VANCOUVER, B.C. – CAVAN VENTURES INC. (TSX-V: CVN) (“Cavan” or the “Company”) announces today that it plans to explore for diamonds on mineral claims staked in Saskatchewan that cover the historic Lake 19 flake graphite occurrence, located approximately 140 km north of a new diamond discovery announced by North Arrow Minerals (TSX-V: NAR) at their Pikoo project (see North Arrow news release, November 5, 2013). The Company will engage Magnor Exploration (La Baie, QC) to review historical geophysics for the region, with plans to conduct glacial sediment sampling in early 2014.

The Lake 19 graphite claims lie in the Kiskeynew Domain, composed of garnet-biotite gneiss, garnet-biotite-sillimanite gneiss, and locally, graphite-rich garnet-biotite gneiss (from the Saskatchewan Mineral Deposits Index: <http://www.er.gov.sk.ca/SMDI>). The Kiskeynew Domain overlies the Archean-aged Sask craton, which is proposed to be the mantle source for diamonds found in kimberlites in Saskatchewan, including the new discovery at Pikoo (Saskatchewan Geological Survey, Misc. Rep. 89-4, p.168-171).
